
RUS]

Rus (surname), and Surname in Romanian; East Slavic historical territories and peoples (Cyrillic: Rus). See Names of Russia, Russia and Little Russia. Eastern and Northern Europe from the end of the 9th to the middle of the 13th century. During this period, the population of Eastern and Northern Europe did not have a common self-name, and therefore there was no single self-name among the Slavic peoples. The Slavs called themselves during this period: Slovenes, Krivichi, Radimichi, Drevlyans, Polyans, Volga Slovenes, Dregovichi, Polochans, Tivertsy, Streets, Buzhans, Volynians. The peoples of Eastern Europe during this period were called differently depending on their place of residence, but they had a common self-name, and it was called Rus during this period.
