Invention The invention relates to an automatic adjusting device of a mattress support plate, more particularly to an automatic adjusting device of a mattress support plate that can be conveniently operated and has strong adjustability. 2. Description of the Related Art A conventional mattress generally has a mattress support plate that is fixedly mounted on a base and has an upright support hole formed in the mattress support plate. A shock-absorbing mattress, such as a waterbed, may be mounted on the support hole of the mattress support plate in an upright position. When the waterbed is mounted on the base, an operator of the waterbed must use his/her hands to adjust the height of the mattress support plate through a screwdriver. It is inconvenient and time-consuming to carry out such operations, and is inconvenient for an operator to carry out such operations while the operator sits down on a waterbed. Further, an operator that is under the influence of drugs or alcohol may not be able to carry out these operations. In addition, the accuracy of the height adjustment is poor. Therefore, it is desirable to provide an automatic adjusting device that can overcome the aforesaid problems.Q:
